Getting Started with FrontrowMD

Note to shopper: The clinician/medical practice below submitted this form to sign up with FrontrowMD. We are providing you with a copy of their responses to validate the authenticity of their agreement to use FrontrowMD and the legitimacy of information provided on their personalized discounts page, like requesting we create a page to share with a specific number of clinicians at the office pre-populated with products based on their specified preferences, which they can remove at any time. Also note that this PDF does not show the "arrow" functionality that clinicians have if they'd like to de-select brands under each category.*
For privacy reasons, the clinician's email is redacted.

Complete this quick form below to launch your page, and we'll email you everything else you need to partner with FrontrowMD!

We are so excited you are willing to share discounts with patients on your favorite selection of health products and to allow us to sell/license that data to our health brand partners through our trust badges to help consumers shop for the best health solutions.

After 5 days, products on your page will count as being "shared" in those badges by the total number of collaborating clinicians, but you can update your page anytime or let us know if you prefer not to share your data (and you can still share discounts either way)!

Any other specific products you'd like us to add, or other instructions for the team (i.e., "Add Mucinex!" or "Set a max of 50 products")? For context, you may potentially add hundreds of products based on your above preferences. For products that are not in our catalog, please provide the URL if possible.

Joylux is a great company with women's health products, also Medicine Mama, Womanness, Foria, Vella Bioscience, The Pelvic People, Tabu, Timeline, Needed, Marea, Biologica, Sunny Within. I could go on and on. But they might be of interest if not currently available!

How many board-certified clinicians would you like to share / collaborate on this discounts page with (vs. creating separate free pages)?
